Grade K

Vocabulary

Words of Interest: courage, Atlantic, sow

Word Concepts: yesterday, today, tomorrow, someday

Lesson: Present/Future

Materials: large sentence strips; markers/crayons; stapler

Discuss what children would like to do someday and what they can do today, just like the little boy in the story. Then, label one side of a sentence strip, TODAY and the other side, SOMEDAY. Students will draw or write three things they can do today and three things they would like to do in the future. Staple the sentence strip around the children's waist making a time line belt.
